Campus Locations and Offerings | Grad

The main campus of Webster University is in Webster Groves, Missouri, a major suburban center of the St. Louis metropolitan area. In addition to the main campus, the University has campuses in downtown St. Louis and in St. Louis County at Westport. In the continental United States, Webster University has campuses in 16 states and in the District of Columbia. Internationally, the University has campuses in Austria, China, Greece, The Netherlands, Singapore, Switzerland, and Uzbekistan. Webster also offers many of its programs online.

Not all degrees and majors are offered at every Webster University location. Campus offerings listed below are accurate as of June 1, 2024. Please see individual campus websites or Webster's Program Finder for current offerings. A schedule of courses for the academic year is available online and at all Webster University locations that offer degree programs.

Campuses marked with this symbol are U.S. campuses that are approved to enroll international graduate students. For further information, please consult Application for International Students under the Admission section of this catalog.

^Campuses marked with this symbol are located on military bases. Students may be required to produce Real ID state or federal government issued picture identification to enter the base and may need additional documentation provided by the base. It is recommended that new international students coming from abroad who do not have U.S. government issued picture identification not be admitted to these campuses. Only current international students already confirmed for access to the base who have U.S. government issued picture identification should be admitted to these campuses.

Online Programs

Webster University offers students unparalleled opportunities to advance their career with a distinctive blend of classroom and online degree programs. Online students will be taught under the same rigorous academic standards as our traditional classroom programs. Students can pursue their degree entirely online, either asynchronously (100% Online) or synchronously (Live Virtual). Students may also mix classroom and online courses according to their preferences, interests, and work or family commitment.

100% Online (asynchronous) programs allow students to participate at any time of day or night, from anywhere they have a computer with internet access, such as work, home, the library, or while traveling. Everything needed to earn a degree or just take a course is online and accessible 24 hours a day, 7 days a week during the regular academic term. This course/program delivery option requires no face-to-face or synchronous (via teleconference) sessions. Courses utilize WorldClassRoom (Canvas) to deliver course content and manage course requirements and assignments. While asynchronous courses do not require students and faculty to be online at the same time, it offers opportunities for interaction between students and faculty, and students and their peers through discussion boards, video postings, group work, and peer review assignments.

Synchronous (LiveVirtual) online is available for a limited selection of courses and programs. Students utilize a combination of teleconferencing tools (Zoom) and WorldClassRoom to connect with fellow students and faculty in real time to learn, engage and collaborate. This allows Webster students in any location to enroll in one of the selected courses and participate virtually in discussions and activities. These courses and programs are synchronous, so students will be expected to meet via zoom for 2-4 hours per week, depending on the design of the program. Please see the program description for additional details about the nature of the course meetings. While students are expected to login and participate throughout the entire session through technology such as Zoom, other course activities as indicated by the instructor will need to be completed in WorldClassRoom.

Online programs and courses are continually being developed to serve the needs of Webster students. For information regarding online programs can and additional information regarding the differences between 100% Online (asynchronous) and Live Virtual (synchronous) programs, please see www.webster.edu/online.
